Moody and hypnotic, this cover of "Kashmir" showcases what Zeinapur does best - creates an atmosphere unlike any other. The juxtaposition of otherworldly vocals with the swagger of electric guitar captures that elusive, mythological place that inspired Led Zeppelin to write the iconic track. The rich sonic realm created by British guitarist David Labovitch and Persian Russian mezzo-soprano Rokhsana Zeinapur is a haunting nod to the classic rock of the 70s, capturing the magic of the song in a strikingly original way.

About Zeinapur:

ZEINAPUR is a new project by British guitarist and film composer David Labovitch and Russian-Persian mezzo soprano Rokšana Zeinapur. While in COVID 19 quarantine, the duo set out to write and record music that marries their respective backgrounds in opera and rock and created a sound world unlike any other. Their debut EP Everything Is Yours plays like a soundtrack to a David Lynch movie, a sound equal parts nostalgic and brand new, full of old world glamour and dreamy vibes. Originally from Riga, Latvia, Rokšana paints the sound with a vocal quality reminiscent of Sade, singing songs about love and transcendence with a voice of singular beauty and richness. David brings out the edge in the sound with sophisticated guitar solos. Now based in Los Angeles, the duo promises to become a genre of their own.

When not working on this project, David produces a guitar lofi artist D_Lab that attracts thousands of listeners daily on Spotify and Apple Music. He holds an MA in Music Composition for Film from Pacific Film Scoring Institute in Seattle, Washington and a BA in Guitar Performance from Academy of Contemporary Music in Guilford, England. Rokšana's solo project is a classical piano artist Time Interior which can also be heard on all music streaming platforms. She holds an MFA in Music Performance from California Institute of the Arts and a BA in Music Performance from Pepperdine University
